Website Update, December 2007

The time has come for the website to undergo yet another major upgrade. Over the coming months the board will be updated with the latest stable version of YaBB and the forum layout redesigned to accommodate the new streamlined website. The main website is to be downsized in preparation for a new Webmaster (position vacant as at January 2008).

Documents previously archived will be reformatted into pdf files and data as at 2007 will be archived accordingly. To date there are 139 pdf files in the FESR Archive of which some files total 117 pages. Needless to say it is a major undertaking and it is hoped that members and visitors will appreciate the effort required to complete the task and thus afford a little patience during this difficult phase.

At this time I would like to farewell the outgoing Webmaster Ross Jennings from WA. Ross has done a sterling job in keeping the site running. New to the world of web editing, Ross was thrown in at the deep end. Thankfully he swam like a trooper ... or should that be sailor ☺ ... thank you Ross for your gallant effort in keeping the site shipshape. Your efforts did not go unnoticed and I for one was glad to have you onboard.

Speaking of goodbyes, it is also time I tender my own resignation. I took on the role of 'consultant' after the original Webmaster Lou LeBoydre sadly slipped his mooring. After seven years of multiple updates, re-designs, incoming and outgoing webmasters, system crashes and hackers I feel it is time for me to hang up my cap. For those members who are not aware my health is not the best. I could do with putting my feet up and trust members will understand the need to haul anchor. I'd like to take this opportunity to thank members for accepting me into the navy family. I'm pleased to say I've made some wonderful friends over the years (who said age was a barrier) and shall remember my time with the FESR fondly.
